HUMANITY UNPLUGGED 2 2001 SPACE ODESSY DAVID BOWIE - GROUND CONTROL TO MAJOR TOM

This show is called Humanity Unplugged 2 and is an expansion of the first show, Humanity Unplugged done on February 19th, with new knowledge brought forward for people to get a grasp of. Show is based on the work of Nicolai Levashov and the series The final appeal to mankind. I have broken down the narrative into a more condensed and easier to understand version, with a range of my own comments and opinions interspersed. There are several categories that will be covered and a range of music to compliment the narrative of each topic. I know many enjoyed the last one and caused great debate and some angst, and that is expected when new material is produced, although nothing is ever new, it is just rediscovered, this show will be no different and I hope you all enjoy it.

Has man ever been contacted yes, many times in the past and why we have so many who have interfered in our lives. Disasterous consequences have been forced upon us due to naivety, crass stupidity, ego and greed. Trade deals involving all manner of trade including human slaves for labor and war, experimentation via genetic manipulation or harvesting our codes and abilities, and yes the unthinkable as food, in giant processing machines, known as The Harvesting of souls. Treaties with alien entities signed on our behalf, with little knowledge of what it really contained, no doubt containing language like latin which is reptillian, and host of word magic (spell) and legal babble, contained in ever smaller fonts so you can't read the damn thing, just like the tv adverts, the key aspect of it, is hidden in small font at the bottom of the screen, which most can't read or get given the time to study it. We can blame our ancestors for letting us down, but should we be too quick to judge? Too often we ourselves just sign contracts without looking at them or understanding them, and this is how we are duped. Most of us signing mortgage agreements have no idea, they could put on page 13 the signer of this document is a complete retard and is unfit to own this property, in 10 years time when we have accumulated most of the interest, we will take it off you, due to your senility, well be honest, would you spot it if they did? If you pay for a house cash and there is only 4 pages to sign, you get the title and they tell you on it YOU ARE THE TENANT, do most question that? no!! but going forward, we all have to learn to question everything. So have we been contacted? yes in particular by a coalition of civilizations warning us of our future demise unless we changed our ways, they were all ignored, why? because too many had a vested interest in this unique planet and unique solar system. 24 races have seeded their genetics into human beings on this planet, so 24 think they have ownership of it, thankfully that type of thinking has whittled down to a very few now. Galactic or Universal Trade is one of the main problems we face, and why some ET's and humans won't allow disclosure, knowledge or participation by the general public, to me that is insidious and a deliberate hampering of the progress of our species, too many of the so called Galactic Councils are basing their collective ideals on protecting trade, than actually aiding the various beings to actually progress, that has to and will change. The 3rd contact made by a Galactic Council was in 1929, it gave dire warnings of our future which I mainly covered in the first show. We have been bombarded with messages from outer space from beings wishing to make contact, but our technical ability to read them at certain times was not up to speed, even now we are still using primitive technology to transmit signals via radio waves, they use telepathy and holographics. ET even told us what signals to use in a crop circle done right next to a radio transmitter!! around 20 years ago. Very soon we are going to have a massive change on this planet, where levels of learning and knowledge will rise exponentially, the point is, we have to do this or we will fail as a species, classed as stillborn in our development. We have to complete our learning here and venture out into the stars like we should have done a long time back, but imo were hampered or blocked from doing so, but these times present us with what appears to be a last chance saloon act, it is high time our whole species came together for a common goal, the protection and development of man and this planet. It will be a monumental task, but done much easier if we are all on the same page, that means quit competing in all levels of our lives, an end to the need to be important, to a desire to do important things for the benefit of all. So you who are still asleep, wake up before that sleep becomes eternal! In Jesus' day there was still time to postpone awakening; this is no longer the case. We have run out of time! We at THI have been learning to know ourselves, through doing shadow and inner work, clearing out the traumas of our past, pulling them into the now and hopefully processing them and letting it go, the reason being was stated by Socrates "To know the world, you must first know yourself." how and why can you attempt to know everything outside of you, if you don't know how you yourself works or operates? this show and moreso the previous one, covered who and what we are, how and why we are here, and now how are we going to develop. The whole key to our development was said by Jesus the following Ask and it shall be given to you...Seek, and ye shall find...Knock, and it shall be opened unto you...For everyone that ask, receiveth; and he that seek shall find; and to him that knock, it shall be opened.”

CELTIC WOMAN - THE VOICE

HOW DID WE GET HERE? Well it would appear we just arrived here based on all the evidence. Homo Sapiens just appeared on Earth thirty to forty thousand years ago on all continents, all at the same time. So from the basis of anatomy and physiology, Homo Sapiens could not have been the evolutionary product of any fossilized ape. For reasons unknown, Neanderthals, which had inhabited the planet for hundreds of thousands of years and were physically much stronger than Homo Sapiens, were suddenly wiped off the face of the Earth. It is hard to explain why Homo Sapiens, few in number and much weaker than the native inhabitants, suddenly emerged – from where no one knows – and forced the Neanderthals out. Only in largely inaccessible areas can a few remnants of the once numerous and powerful race of Neanderthals be found, like the Yeti, Sasquatch, Abominable Snowman, all of which who shun encounters with the human race.. The odd thing is that all human races appeared simultaneously and were racially purer than they are today, the dictate seems to be that we should not have mixed the races, the reasoning behind that is likely to do with the genetics, added to the fact that the genetic structure of a human is totally different from that of all other life on the planet. Genetically the human species is not part of the planet's life system. According to American scientists, humans appear to be a GENETIC MISTAKE in the development of life on planet Earth. The only logical and correct conclusion is we came from outside this system 30-40K years ago, question remains are we a special creation of source or a manipulated bio machine from some rogue civilizations? So much of how we as a vessel. appears regulated, none moreso than the brain, how is it so precise that we use only 5% of our brain capacity? logical thinking would suggest someone forgot to upload our software system too well, or could it have been deliberate? and what were the intentions? Two options, one we are being controlled to not develop, or two, we are each of us, on a personal level, trying to achieve personal evolution. Remember in the first show it was stated, those that reach the mental planes of evolution, get to obtain use of a greater portion of their brain, it is at this stage of development the human capacity to greater intellect occurs (intelligence can be taught, intellect is self learning by a process of over viewing information and making decisions based on that, rather than being immersed in the chatter) latent abilities can then also form, like telepathy, telekinesis, healing of the self and others through thought, the ability to affect weather systems and influence the ecology of the planet, all done through the mind. Our limited thinking or limiting depending on who or what is controlling here, is hampering us by insisting we use fuel based rockets to escape the atmosphere, when other alternatives are available, but just not to the general public, fuel based rockets are what punctured and what started depleting the Ozone layer. Advanced civilizations use the fold and unfold of space to travel in what is called zero transition crafts, vast distances covered but they also have limitations based on construction materials and the capacity of the pilots. Remember in the 1st show it was stated, all matter has a causal effect on the space around it or them? This is how and why black holes have the effect they do, something I hypothesized a while back and now confirmed by this book, black holes are not as science has made them out, they are portals to next universe, big bang theory is bs. What takes place is, in certain regions of space with the more qualitative conditions for life and evolution form, a development is made in that region, whereby it may have outgrown it's own evolutionary cycle here, and it's next stage of development maybe more beneficial in the next universe, so that system folds in on itself and creates the vortex whereby primary matter flows through the vortex into the next universe, eventually the whole system bleeds through into the next universe. To the observer it will appear as a sudden explosion but in reality it is just the frequencies of light coming through the vortex into the new universe. THE WHO - WHO ARE YOU

SPACE TRAVEL AND THE EXPERIMENT It all starts at the micro level and another thing modern science will not tell you, a single cell which reproduces itself actually completely disappears before it replicates itself into 2 cells, during the vanishing stage the primary matter flows into the etheric stage and then creates the duplicate cells, from the etheric the cells start obtaining the physical cells. Once we grasp how primary matter flows back and forth through the various levels during accumulation of the cells, then the understanding of this, leads into grasping how interstellar travel is possible. It is this process that leads into the how, zero transition craft, can be developed to go from point A to point B in little to no time, via a parallel universe to the destination. These craft are biometallic in structure, composed of DNA and RNA with heavy metals to provide the bond for the craft, the composition of the alloys required, is a crucial aspect to provide the stability for the whole craft and it's occupants. The combining of these two enables the craft to create enough force to enable a curvature of the space around it, enabling travel not only to other planets but also other universes, with the right amount of primary matter flow between point A and Point B. So, what controls the craft? the psi field of the pilots, the light force or shield discussed in the 1st show, the further afield the travel, the larger the psi field is required. (Some may remember the series Taken by Steven Spielberg, where military were trying to get twins to operate a downed alien craft, with distasterous consequences I might add) the key is being able to work with your psi field and then being able to harmonize it with another person of the same abilities. Pilots have to be able to synchronize their psi fields in to a collective, where each one gives a portion of their psi fields, it is crucial they are all in synch as a failure would lead to the craft being unable to leave the parallel universe and onto it's destination, a failure to harmonize all pilots would lead to a complete disintegration of the craft and pilots. Some of you will know about an incident in Tunguska, Russia in 1908, that was one of these zero transition craft, and this is why no fragments of comets or asteroids where ever found. That craft came from the Cygnus constellation and the pilots managed to escape the craft and were eventually picked up in Siberia, these accidents are not uncommon and increases if the duration of the travel is greater. As a side note to this, it was reported by people in the area, that blue lights came up from the ground like a pencil light, and hit the object and that is what caused the crash, it appears Earth has an ancient inbuilt laser system to ward off enemy craft or other incoming objects. Pilots for the zero transition craft are 4 or less for medium distance and 6 for longer distance travel, the more that travel, there is an increased chance of their psi field not harmonizing. Only advanced civilizations have the ability to do this travel, we are not advanced enough to do this, most people are unaware of their own field, never mind harmonizing it with others. We have craft here that can travel the stars in a more linear fashion, that requires a fuel propulsion system, until we as a species acquire the knowledge and understanding of this material, we are always going to be limited in our growth. But this issue appears to have been a multi universal one, due to the limiting factors of developing certain heavy metals, and also getting sufficient people in the particular species, to a level of knowledge to be able to understand psi field, and then have the ability to harmonize it with others, this has slowed down growth in the majority of all intelligent life. A collection, numbering in the billions decided to work out a solution to fix this problem and eventually agreed to enact on the solution. The solution was to try an experiment with 9 planets with Earth being one of those selected, by artificially accelerating and monitoring of life on the selected planets. Once the planet was modified for the insertion of the new beings, a genetic bomb was placed on the beings already occupying the 9 planets, and the new humanoid beings called Homo Sapiens replaced the previous incumbents the Neanderthals, 30-40K years ago. Many different species/races made up the new Homo Sapien group that had the compatibility to have children regardless of genetic background. However and despite the genetic compatibility tests 3 races emerged White, Yellow and Black, each racial type were inserted into a part of the Earth comparable with their home planets. It is stated that all participants were in agreement with the plan and willingly went to the respective planets. Those that took part were genetically comparable but were of different evolutionary backgrounds, this was said to ensure a future growth pattern. But the melding of many different qualities and properties in a single individual entails an intense genetic fusion. To accomplish all this the PARTICIPANTS' BRAINS WERE CLOSED, with only a minimal amount of working neurons left – just enough to provide a trace of their owners' intelligence. That is why humans have only 3–5% of actively working neurons. To activate the remainder would require the evolutionary development of the species as a whole or of a specific number of the species. All experimental subjects were severely regressed in their evolution – sadly to a state of savagery. Under these conditions the tribes attacked each other, stronger tribes absorbed the weaker ones and, in turn, were absorbed by even stronger ones, in other words the dog eat dog style we witness today, the resulting offspring were a mixture of qualities. Everything was in turmoil. And so the wheel of evolution was set in motion and still continues to the present day. Those who started it have kept it under constant surveillance and never allowed it to stop or slow down. Mostly without influence, but in certain cases it happened to be more obvious. Some of the direct influence to improve matters in the past were special humanoids but not gods, as they were worshipped here, these people were known as Prometheus, Zeus, Athena, Diana, Gaea and Apollo, they operated from Mount Olympus with the technology dome over the region, that didn't allow access from the outside for the mortals. These people brought a range of improvements like fire, agriculture, writing, art, poetry and other skills to help humanity in their development. Similar beings went to other parts of the world and interacted with groups such as The Aztec's and The Mayans, they were taught planetary, solar, lunar and cosmic cycles, that they could calculate themselves, and their knowledge on those subjects was way beyond what was taught or known in Europe. That was until the conquistadors bought and paid for by the Roman Catholic Church decided to burn all the books or knowledge whilst rampaging through their land, this type of blatant criminality by the Roman Church is far more widespread and runs much deeper than most realize, I will cover that in another show. For those who don't know, Christopher Columbus was funded to come here by the Roman Church in league with Spanish Royalty, Columbus never founded anything, there is evidence of others being here way before Columbus was born, never mind arrived, Templar's in 1000 AD, Welsh in 500 AD, Chinese in 200AD and Polynesians in 1-200 AD, The Irish were here also, as why would the name Nova Scotia be named, Nova Scotia means New Ireland, Ireland was once named Scotia, so the only thing Columbus founded on these lands was tyranny, he and his entourage started the desecration of these lands and it's peoples. Whenever these special immortal beings showed up either in physical form or non corporeal, a new cradle of civilization occurred in that region. Unfortunately other beings showed up who were not aware of the experiment or others came here for their own ends, which has muddied the waters here considerably, that has led to a massive downfall here. For those who passed the experiment and elevated the Earth evolutionary cycle, a permanent base of operation for them was established near Tibet, called Shamballa. The same transparent dome exists over that region as well, there are strange anomalies that occur in that region that prevents penetration through the dome by non initiated. So if we want Universal space travel for all, we must come together as a planet to kick start real growth. That process must be started off soon if humanity is to progress, we are massively under developed on many aspects of our lives, the sooner a real education takes place on this planet the better. This transition would be difficult, but not insurmountable with the right amount of funding and effort, I feel it can be done in 2 generations. Classrooms would have to be home based computer teachings for a while until teachers are actually trained themselves, maybe virtual reality classrooms might be a way forward, which would be interactive based on the child's needs and abilities, rather than the one size fits all approach currently. CHRIS DE BURGH - A SPACEMAN CAME TRAVELLING

INCARNATION TO THIS PLANET From time to time we have had other special beings here on this planet to teach us how to grow and also how to escape this AI construct. A highly-developed cosmic spirit would come to one of the higher mental spheres of Earth to be incarnated on the planet. This resulted in the birth of a human child, inhabited by a space spirit. This child was reared and educated on Earth, and, eventually his spirit passed through the first stage of its development. The barriers were removed, so that he could now recall his past incarnations and understand who he was, where he came from and why he was incarnated on Earth. It was only after he recognized his destiny that he began to take action. Among such entities are BUDDHA, KRISHNA, and CHRIST, all of whom have contributed greatly to the human race. Unfortunately, they are still misunderstood and their teachings still grossly distorted. There are several ways that space entities may incarnate on Earth: a) The spirit's memory and knowledge of his incarnation are completely closed. After birth, he knows nothing of his origin or purpose on Earth. It is only after he achieves a certain level of development that he makes telepathic contact with those who sent him. It is only then that he begins to grasp completely his mission on Earth. b) Right from the beginning of his incarnation the spirit maintains telepathic contact with those who dispatched him. This continues throughout the critical stages of his development, and no deviations are allowed from the charted course of the planet's evolution. c) From the very first day of his incarnation, the spirit recognizes his origin and mission. Fourthly, the many civilizations in outer space embrace an array of different ideologies and, accordingly are organized in a variety of different coalitions. Tentatively, we may divide them into three categories: Light, Gray, and Dark. The Light civilizations adhere to the code of SPACE LAWS following the basic tenets outlined below: a) Each civilization has the right to choose its own path of evolutionary development, no matter what it might be. b) Highly developed civilizations may render assistance to less advanced civilizations only if requested. c) Highly developed civilizations are forbidden to terminate life, even non-intelligent life, on another planet. They are forbidden to robotize or train psi or any other weapons upon less advanced civilizations. d) Highly developed civilizations are forbidden to apply any measures, other than precautionary, against members of less advanced civilizations. e) Use of violence against members of less advanced civilizations is permissible only if the latter's action would lead to major disaster. The extent of the violence should be kept at a minimum. f) The use of holographic camouflage and deception is strictly forbidden and punishable. Penalties include nullification, that is, total obliteration of the spirit as well as of the physical body. g) No civilization may perform experiments of possible detriment to another civilization without the latter's consent. h) Highly developed civilizations are forbidden to transmit knowledge to less advanced civilizations that may be potentially dangerous to others. i) Every civilization has a right to join a coalition or to develop independently. Gray civilizations do not feel bound by any of the laws which the Light universes observe (with the exception of provisions c, f, g, and h, which they do observe). Dark civilizations feel they are above all laws, recognizing only the law of might. They will do or use anything whatsoever to implement their ideas and achieve their goals. The Earth experiment owes its beginning to a huge coalition of Light civilizations. However, during certain phases of its evolutionary development, the Dark civilizations have intervened and transformed Earth into a civilization like their own. THE 100 SERIES TUNE

DEVELOPMENT AND INTERFERENCE OF BEINGS AND A PLANET

A recap of our own evolutionary cycle is physical body, etheric, astral and then the 4 mental planes, the latter of which has largely been blocked to many here, stunted development to block space travel, to keep the astral loosh program going, to initiated a robotized being and to serve the AI hive mind construct. The development has favorable and unfavorable conditions on each level of evolution cycle, Earth has 99 sites where there are positive and negative energy flows. a) The quality and quantity of energy currents impinging on our solar system (including Earth) as it revolves about the center of our galaxy. b) The location of one's birthplace and the region where he grows up and develops. c) The evolutionary development of an individual's spirit. d) The quantity and quality of the information which the human brain absorbs. There is a civilization growth development too known as inner, outer and cosmic stages. The inner stage which we are currently in has 3 phases: a) When energy currents piercing the Earth from outer space are most conducive to the development of etheric bodies known as the age of Aries. b) When energy currents piercing the Earth from outer space are most conducive to the development of astral bodies known as the age of Pisces – “age of the Devil” c) When energy currents piercing the Earth from outer space are especially conducive to the development of first mental bodies known as the age of Aquarius. Upon completion of these three stages, the cosmic (outer) stage of evolution begins. Civilizations at this stage cannot be robotized or manipulated. Therefore, any attempt to do so to any civilization, including Earth's has to unfold during the youthful (inner) stage of its development. Civilizations are most vulnerable during the phase in which the astral bodies start to develop actively (the age of Pisces – “the Devil”). At this time, astral bodies are most unstable and can easily be blocked for the purpose of producing biorobotic structures. It was precisely during the age of Pisces that the Earth's hybrid civilization was bombarded by astral generators located at the ninety-nine nodes of incoming energy currents. These generators created an energy structure that ensured the birth of humans with inborn susceptibility to robotization. Only spirits on a high evolutionary scale had sufficient potential to restore the normal structure of their bodies and their further energetic development. But these people were physically terminated, bereft of the opportunity to achieve a new qualitative level or to expose and destroy the robotic structure. A human born with a defective physical structure and energetically primed for robotization can easily be “tuned in” to the control system. It merely takes certain patterns of education and upbringing, which demand absolute obedience to those in control. To this end, the moral codes and philosophy of the Dark civilizations were invoked. This was achieved by mass confusion, a complete distortion of the truth, altering of history, denying us a true knowledge base, but also alienating or eliminating anyone who dared to stand up and question their version of the "truth" that was presented to us, our education system completed the process. Once they got sufficient numbers into the robot state, they then used their psi field to manipulate and totally control the unknowing public, psi weapons have been in use on this planet for 1000's of years and yet is hardly known anywhere, one of the best kept secrets the dark have at their disposal. Psi weapons were used heavily in Germany and Russia with devastating consequences, mass controlled systems were used there and how the masses just all went along in hypnotic trance aka zombies, with their delusions of grandeur was impressive until the final toll of human sacrifice was totaled up, Nazis cost this planet 50M lives, Stalin form of communism over a period of 74 years cost Russia 100M lives, many of which were cultural, artistic, music and art based peoples, in other words those of a high evolutionary development. Or intervened when nuclear weaponry decimated many villages and towns in Russia 1814-18 as those peoples had a high proportion of developed abilities and knowledge, known as The Rus. If a person was able to evolve to the point of achieving harmony between his etheric, astral and mental bodies, the psychic weapon had virtually no effect upon him. This is why certain groups were hunted down, The Rus peoples, Romany, 1st Nations, heretics, witches, psychics, scientists and known light warriors to eliminate any chance of development, the cost of lives through the ages for this runs into extraordinary numbers, and yet they have still not been able to take us all, an extraordinary achievement for those still standing. HIGHLY SUSPECT - MY NAME IS HUMAN

THE LIGHT WARRIORS FIGHT BACK

So what did the light coalition do in all this time of this carnage, people may feel we have been abandoned, and they have left us and the grand experiment to wither and die, this has not been the case, they sent some of their brightest sons and daughters in an attempt to redress the balance. The best known as these beings is known as Jesus 1000 years ago, yes you heard that correctly, and his real name was Radomir, the Jesus name came about from the Jewish religion created by Constantine, one of those people was named Yeshua, who was around in 1st century, but he was far from what Radomir stood for, infact quite the opposite, you can add Yehwah and Yehovah into the bullshittery category as well. Radomir and wife Maria Magdelene were both light warriors, he incarnated here on Earth same as everyone else, but quickly evolved his spirit here and overcame the Earth barriers to contact those who sent him. He came to save people from robotization, but quickly realized many people didn't want to be saved by anyone. He said, "He that hath ears to hear, let him hear," but only a few heard... He summoned people to the light, to the truth and knowledge. He opened their hearts and people began to "see clearly", He achieved this by simply removing the robotization module from the solar plexus and the heart chakra, but unfortunately few at this time understood this. As the deception fell away, people suddenly opened up to the truth, toward the good, and no longer wished to do harm unto others. He strove to help people save their souls and avoid sinking into the dark. He was a true warrior for the light, for purity and for righteousness.

Not all of his messages were of love and light, he understood the need to fight for your rights with this comment “Think not that I come to send peace on earth: I came not to send peace, but a sword.” He also warned of those who would later distort his message and depict him in bad light “I am not sent but unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel,” He also warned of the dangers of currency by ransacking Roman tax collectors tables and strewing their stolen wealth across the courtyard. Sadly his time here ran out following his crucifixion in 1089, he was revived and left the earthly plane in his physical body, via a zero transition craft with his father the following day, some of the proof of this is contained in early Christian frescos and paintings of flying craft in the sky, it is depicted in many scenes. Let it be known that whether you call him Jesus, Radomir or Christ, he was neither Christian nor religious, a fact that has been grossly distorted over the last 1000 years. He came 1000 years ago, around 1550 there were two other top of the range light warriors destined to try and save mankind named Isadora and her daughter Anna, they too met earthly resistance with apathy of the people and the veracity of the Roman Catholic church to shut them down, they burned both of these people alive at the stake. I may cover that in greater detail in another show, suffice to say my own opinion of The Roman Catholic church is one of utter contempt and no good has ever come out of that organization. So here we are again 500 years later and we are presented with another opportunity to shake off the shackles and progress beyond all our imaginations, the next phase of development is purely down to us and only us. In this age of Aquarius upon us now, allows for much growth and a leap forward in our own evolutionary process, how is this achieved? it is achieved by learning and accepting a whole new body of knowledge and information, plus avoiding destroying ourselves through our own stupidity. As we venture forward we must absorb the new space knowledge if we are to survive, much of the groundwork has already been done with removal of astral generators in 1989, the soul traps and soul cubes, the loops system, the AI and it's construct, the veil and many other exotic tech and trickery that has been used here. Will we be ready or fail like our ancestors did in Christ times? The age of Aquarius is here, that will bring forth previously unknown knowledge and a growth spurt of spirituality – which if done correctly, will lead to a powerful surge in mental and spiritual development. We are also being assisted with the energy wave that has been coming in in bursts since 2002, when the Earth's energy currents and those from outer space are in harmony with a genetic structure forming an energy resonance, the growth of a people or a nation is truly astounding. Such a nation starts playing an active role in the historical arena, which culminates in a golden age of statehood, culture and economy. When the structure of the energies shifts, a gradual recession ensues – a twilight of the nation or people following the stage of rapid growth and ascendancy. Another nation or people, whose energy currents are harmonious with their genetics, then takes center stage in the historical arena. Each era in the history of the human race, has its characteristic quality and structure of the energy currents impacting the Earth's surface from outer space. Therefore, during the various epochs in mankind's history, different types of genetic structures have enjoyed active evolutionary progress. In the course of each, energy currents show a certain spectrum of changes, causing one or another population of a particular genetic type to embark on an active evolutionary development. 5TH DIMENSION - THE AGE OF AQUARIUS

MIGRATION BENEFITS AND DRAWBACKS

The issue of immigration is a hot topic debate in many circles these days, with programming dictating the narrative far too much in the opinion of this writer, once you are able to look at things from an overview point of view, the idea of calling anyone an immigrant illegal or otherwise, is backward thinking, I will repeat it again "How can anyone be an immigrant on their own planet?" it is cabal agenda driven thinking calling anyone an immigrant, please stop that bullshit. But the migration of peoples around the world can have a good cumulative effect, depending on their genetic make up and whether they are adaptable to that region, if not it can have a bad effect. When a population occupied an area energetically incompatible to its genetic structure, evolutionary progress was sluggish, and etheric body formation was deficient. The males lacked physical vigor and aggressiveness – which meant a dearth of strong and valiant warriors. Astral bodies were weakly developed, which adversely affected the development of art, culture and spirituality. Deficient development of mental bodies had a negative effect on the progress of the economy and technology. The total effect was to render the population incapable of withstanding its stronger, actively-developing neighbors. So, crowded out, it was forced to migrate over great distances abandoning the terrain of such interest to its more aggressive neighbors. Following a migration the population finally settled in a region with an energy structure far different from its original abode. And if the energetic and genetic structures happened to resonate with each other, all the people in that region now experienced a rapid surge in their evolutionary development. So migration has pros and cons to it, but we have to start developing a trust with each other from other countries, and not see them as portrayed in the slanted media, or based on their political structure, and more importantly their religious status. Society and its programming has caused us all too fear each other, that fear based mistrust is not mainly based on our own personal experience, but is based the narrative given to us by media and politician lies, and programming, this barrier must be shattered by the people for progress to be of a speedy nature. Imagine a world where we all grow as one collective mass? tolerance rather than hatred, caring rather than cold callous disconnection, sharing rather than every man for himself, where border are points of interest and not imaginary or actual walls to keep us apart, where society becomes lawful not legal, where cures are encouraged and dis-ease not created for the profit of the few, an education system that encourages learning and growth and not just an ability to pass a test, a peoples and it's planet in harmony with nature and also with technology.

IMAGINE - JOHN LENNON

ILLNESS

To start with, let us attempt to classify the various types of illnesses:

- 1) Genetic disease, transmitted to an individual through the parental genes.
- 2) Acquired illnesses, which an individual contracts in the course of his lifetime.
- 3) Ecological disease, resulting form the impact of adverse environmental conditions.
- 4) Karmic disease, i.e., diseases which the spirit brings with it from previous lives.

The cause of genetic disease is self-explanatory.

There are several states that arise in the course of such illnesses:

- a) Infections which invade the body and develop inside the host.
- b) Defense reactions of the body's immunological system (active phase of the disease).
- c) Secreted toxins and metabolic waste products discharged into the body by the infecting agent.
- d) Structural changes in the diseased organs and systems.

In the initial stage of disease there are not that many intruders in our bodies, so the alert system to the brain is not yet activated, it requires a certain level of virus/bacteria or metabolic waste to trigger the brain response to the invasion, this is known as the incubation period. Once sufficient of the bacteria accumulates and some toxins enter the bloodstream, then the brain kicks in and the first line of defense is to increase the body temperature, as toxins cannot survive in temperatures above 39-40C (102-104F, this we know as the fever stage, any attempt to lower body temperature at this stage is actually counter productive, that is not what most were taught is it? There are 2 exceptions to lowering the temperature, 1. if the temperature goes above 42C (107F) as there is a danger of proteins in blood coagulating, this is when blood clots form and can have disastrous consequences. 2. When the body on it's own can't regulate the temperature. The body then introduces attack mode two, by creating white blood cells to attack the virus and eliminate them, this creates a lot of waste in the form of pus. The battle continues between the pus and the body, it is only when the body adjusts and battles the remaining pathogens, then the stored energy of the immune system kicks in to finally kill off the virus, only after that do we start to return to health, the immune system having generally used up all it's stored energy, takes a fair amount of time to finally recover to it's optimal state. The brain power is too often used to capacity to keep the body functioning, and so is limited in it's scope to detect and deflect viruses, one method of overcoming this is something that is rather unpleasant to most people, but does actually work, urine therapy. How this works is, you collect your first pee in the morning in clean vassel, and put a small amount that fits under the tongue only, you don't have to glug it, it's not Budweisser, actually it is like Budweisser as that taste like piss to me lol, leave under the tongue for short while and the receptors in the tongue sends direct signals to the brain, activating the response system before the virus kicks in.

A word about medication . . .

The efficiency of all medicines depends upon the defense mechanism of the virus in any body – both the pathogen and the invaded virus. The assumption is that destroying the pathogens promptly and efficiently would not significantly harm the body – which then would quickly return to its normal condition. Unfortunately, however, in order to survive, the pathogen promptly adapts to the medicinal poisons administered, thereafter remaining totally impervious to them.

In such a situation, the effect of the poison is directly proportional to its concentration. But as soon as the medicinal poison exceeds a concentration which the virus can tolerate, the virus is helpless to neutralize the effect of these poisons on its organs and dies of medicinal poisoning. Moreover, from what has been observed, medications have no effect on the brain's apparatus for monitoring its organs and systems. Most medications known today have an equally destructive effect on both the pathogen and the human organism. It is hard to say which is the lesser of two evils – dying of the remedy or dying of the disease... Medications actually suppress the immune system, think about that.

Most viruses over time have been eradicated, but new ones always pop up for differing reasons. Drilling for oil or fracking can cause latent ancient bacteria to re-activate, then of course we have the clowns in weaponry bio research developing viruses for war purposes and also genetic engineering, AIDS being prime example, grown and developed here in America. A note on AIDS, as far back as eight hundred years ago the symptoms of AIDS were cited in monastic chronicles. The disease had undoubtedly been around even earlier, but the number of victims was minimal. Only a few individuals had defensive psi-fields so depleted that the AIDS virus could invade their organism.

Indeed, that – and homosexuality, so often blamed for the dissemination of AIDS – has been part of human existence since man came together as a species. They have virus research now down to a much more developed level than most realize, one example that got my attention a few years back, is they have developed a virus solely to work on black people, this is incomprehensible, but sadly given the mindset of those in those programs, not unexpected. It is another example of the hidden forces here attempting to erase the human race, that is aided and abetted by modern medicines, which are actually poisons. There was much advancement in holistic and alternative safe medicines in 13 and 14th century, but was hijacked by Medici family and distorted to suit agendas, the term medicine comes from that family name. When we are able to tap into our own bio energy fields and work with them to heal ourselves, then the need for drugs will not be required. Part of the problem we face is excessive density of populations, this leads to a degradation of the collective psi fields and leads to hormonal imbalance, in males this leads to sexual function issues, leading to premature and wide-spread male impotence.

THE SPIRIT IT'S DEVELOPMENT, CHARACTERISTICS & POTENTIALS We have disclosed earlier of the 7 Earth planes of our own spirit evolutionary growth, Physical, Etheric, Astral and 4 mental planes, so we have 3 types of spirit body an Etheric, Astral and Mental. The development and the growth of the spirit bodies, A complete astral body may emerge only after a certain critical developmental level is reached, and the barrier between the physical and first mental planes of the planet disappears, a complete mental body may emerge only after development of the astral body up to the level of obliterating the qualitative barrier between the planet's physical and first mental planes.

Whenever conditions arise for the development of the next spiritual body, the preceding bodies continue their evolution. The pace may be rapid or slow – that is, any of the bodies may assume a dominant role in the spiritual structure. Thus, any of the bodies may become disproportionately developed as compared to the others: it depends upon the actual sequence of their spiritual developments after birth. Moreover, a human being keeps on developing – either positively or negatively – during his entire lifetime. The human etheric body mediates an individual's physical strength and activity, including sexual. That is precisely why adolescents, ranging in age from 16 to 20 years, display heightened sexual activity. At that age, the higher astral body is not yet complete, and the lower astral body happens to be developed to a much greater degree – a condition that manifests in a gamut of negative emotions, including aggressiveness, sadism, etc.

The human astral body generally reflects its owner's emotional status. In its lower form it consists of only one type of primary matter, G, it illicit a range of negative emotions – a state of spiritual impoverishment. A fully-developed astral body, lower and higher, composed of two types of primary matter, G and F, reflects positive emotions – a more evolved spirituality.

Depending on which stage of development your spirit is on, there are 4 different characterizations of the individual. Sanguine reflects will power predominates over the emotions since the emotions are positive in character. Such a person can control his emotions. Phlegmatic individual possesses enough strength and will power to stay focused on a specific type of work for long periods of time. But he lacks the positive incentives needed to generate constructive ideas on his own. There can be no leaders among phlegmatic types. They are always ready to follow others and to display persistence and fanaticism in their pursuits. Also, they very seldom alter their beliefs and tend to oppose any new ideas or innovative changes. (hello current version of the cabal springs to mind)

Melancholic personality, Such an individual is emotionally unstable, passive, and prone to extended periods of depression, often triggered by quite minor problems. The depression stems from the fact that the negative emotions resonate with the energy structure of the lower astral body. This sets up an active link with negative energy currents for extended periods of time, which the subject is unable to “switch off” in order to return to normal.

Chloric personality, This type of individual generates a plethora of positive emotions around him; emotionally easily altered or changed, he easily shifts from one feeling state to another. But since the structure of his astral body is out of harmony with negative affect, he cannot sustain any negative emotional state for very long, but bounces back to an upbeat mood quite readily. Moreover, a choleric individual is easily ignited by ideas, but lacks the will power and persistence to bring them to fruition. If whatever he is engaged in fails to reach a speedy denouement, he quickly drops it, only to be swept away by the next new idea.

It is the astral body that dictates much of our development, characteristics, moods and evolvment, it is impossible to define a real fixed set of characteristics as things are so flexible on a day to day basis. Many of you will see bits of each of you in all 4 categories but perhaps not define one, this is down to each individual constantly changing and developing throughout their entire life and, accordingly, the qualitative structure of his spirit also changes.

Moreover, just as the physical body requires rest to restore its capacity to function, so do each of the spiritual bodies. Our physical bodies operate on a 24 hour clock, the spiritual bodies operate on a clock also but based on days rather than hours. Etheric is 23 days, Astral is 28 days, Mental is 33 days, 2nd mental is 49 days, 3rd is 74 days and 4th mental is 100 days. There are impacts each day on the psi field and the weakest point is between 12 - 4am, other weak points are at the full moon, modern science has now caught up with old mythologies around the time of the full moon, werewolves, witches, demons and vampires times. with the absence of sunlight the thickness of the barrier between physical, etheric, astral and other planes is minimal. It is at these weak points that the astral beasts can attack if the psi field or shielding of the individual is not at it's optimal level, since we implemented the document grounding, shielding and centering, we have noticed as dramatic decrease in members facing these sort of attacks, and a marked improvement in their state of mind and wellbeing for the most cases, it is so important to do that inner work. The astral beasts attack is where cancer cells forming into dis-ease originates, they spot the gaps in the body's defense system, penetrate them and drain off the body's potential, the human life energy. The parasites are not as developed as we are, and so have to lower our life force for them to be at the same qualitative state as the individual is, to then integrate it's form into ours, in other words it mimics being part of us, clever little f'ers, so they drain part of our life force and once balance is achieved, the attack begins. So having disintegrated the human structures down to the level of the astral creature, by destroying the qualitative structure of the cells in the affected area down to the etheric level, these cells lose their normal architecture and start developing through a program that bears no resemblance to that of a human organism. Cancer cells develop and proliferate vigorously, resulting in a swift collapse of the organism. It is not accidental that cancer cells are identical to those of a fertilized egg. A rapid and uncontrolled proliferation of tumor cells quickly devours a major portion of the organism's energy. This results in overload of all the organs and systems of the body, and their rapid destruction through deprivation, of the vital energy needed for their normal functioning. Cancer occurs because the cell's normal structures are destroyed at the level of a spiritual body.

Since such invasions usually originate from the astral plane, the destroyed cells are mostly from the astral body levels. Most cells normally renew their etheric structure once every five years, which explains why cancers can recur at that interval.

It is possible to avoid the recurrence of cancer tumor in humans only by restoring all the levels of the affected cells to their normal structure, and characteristic of their cell type.

HUMAN OR NON HUMAN ENTITIES INVADING THE BODY So ascertained in previous part, we are vulnerable to attack from spirit entities, known as non corporeal or more commonly termed as Archons, via the etheric and astral levels, a weakened immune system, infections, injuries, full moon, 12-4am, channeling and also yoga via opening up of the chakras without sufficient shielding, are ways the body can be taken over. If the host is sufficiently weakened they can be completely overtaken by the invading parasite, whereby the parasite can become a new version of you. Examples of this can be a change of appearance, but most is noticeable through changes in behavior, mannerisms or habits. The host becomes erratic, as they suspect something is wrong with them, but have no idea they are being controlled, schizophrenia is often an example of the body being taken over, infact most mental dis-eases could well be caused by these vampiric entities destroying your life force to meet their own needs, this is open to debate, but should be carefully considered. These spirits can do the most extraordinary things and here is one case that covers a takeover, with the host totally unaware. It concerned a young woman of very strict morals and totally avoided sexual contact with men, until wed (clearly wasn't Irish Catholic then lol) Every evening she quietly retired and every morning awoke with absolutely no awareness of anything that had transpired. However, when her spirit left her body during sleep, another female spirit, of entirely opposite moral fabric, invaded her vacated physical body... "Donning" this body, the interloper-spirit ventured out on the town to engage in an orgy of sex. In the morning she deposited the body in its usual place, just before the rightful owner returned... The native spirit, upon re-entry, was entirely unaware of the body's nocturnal activities during her absence. Then, one day, she discovered she had become pregnant. One can only imagine what she must have felt after learning the news!... Or how she must have wondered what "holy" spirit had done this to her!... I have spoken to many members in alternative community who have reported being raped in their bed, with no one around, some of it of a quite brutal nature. Anyone who can astral project can potentially do this to another, this highlights the danger of certain healers, hypnotherapists et al, one on one sessions where you are asked to open your field and read your mind, sadly some with certain abilities can not only read your mind, but hook into it and control it, but also tune into your frequencies as well, and so are able to locate you even if you are thousands of miles away. Maybe that is why they are called therapists aka the rapists, although it is certainly not funny for those effected. I mean who can you tell? erm I was raped in bed last night, who by? erm there was nobody was there, erm ok, were you drinking or on drugs last night? do you need to see a shrink? these are the standard retaliations of those who don't understand the nature of this problem, the person who has been through this horrendous experience, now finds they have little to no support structure. The person will start to doubt themselves, am I going nutty? who will believe them? who will disown them if they tell other people? self doubt increases and the victim enters the proverbial Twilight Zone of their own making, largely because very little of the outside world believe or accept this as reality. Just because you are unaware of something, does not mean it doesn't exist, remember stated earlier, be more flexible in your thought process and open to all possibilities, then you will develop a greater understanding, of what is largely an esoteric subject.

A word about sleep-walking...

The phenomenon of so-called somnambulism is an incomplete possession of a physical body by another spirit, whereby the invader cannot completely take over someone else's brain and gain control over all the brain and bodily functions. It affects only the primitive structures of the brain, which manifest in the unconscious, automaton-like movements of sleep-walkers.

If the spirit of an astral creature invades a susceptible physical body, the latter will behave according to the life habits of the intruder. And if in its own physical body and prior life it preyed on or devoured animals, the "preempted" body will behave exactly the same, in so far as the capacity of the human body enables it to do so.

This is exactly how humans become "werewolves". Certainly the human body does not change into the image and likeness of an astral creature's spirit; only his actions are under control of the creature.

Sadly, the capacity to see invading spirits belongs to only a few individuals whose brains possess a qualitative structure that enables it to receive information (including auditory and visual) emanating from other levels of the planet, maybe those listening would care to ponder, would you like to be able to see/sense outside of the 5 senses we normally use? not for the faint hearted I can tell you. Gremlins, Dark Elves aka Batman, large brown sasquatch types, jesuit watchers, shadow men to name but a few I have seen or experienced, you have your own self doubt of what you are experiencing, until you come back into "reality" with cuts, bruises or even a dislocated shoulder on one trip, that injury lasted 9 months before recovery. WARREN ZEVON WEREWOLVES IN LONDON

HOW NOT TO LOOK AFTER YOUR PSI FIELD What are other ways in which the collapse or exhaustion of the human protective psi-field. Alcohol possesses a powerful negative energy, the etheric structure of ethyl alcohol is very dynamic and exerts a powerful influence on the human etheric body. This is one of the reasons why a person in a drunken state is so much weaker than when he is sober. Alcoholic beverages have one feature that happens to be the precise source of their addictive properties: they contain, among other ingredients, the simplest sugars, glucose and fructose, which undergo rapid absorption directly into the bloodstream, producing thereby a surge of positive energy.

But ethyl alcohol actually has the effect of producing inertia in an organism. Its negative structure becomes activated only several hours after ingestion in cases where the subject's liver can no longer neutralize it. For several hours a liver is tasked with breaking down the consumed alcohol and becomes exhausted in its efforts, the unprocessed residue has a very adverse effect on the subject's etheric body, flooding it with negative energy and disrupting the harmony of the spirit's structural foundation. This leads to a severe reduction in the protective psi-field's density.

Very often, after an all-night binge, a person is totally depleted, knocked-out, dizzy and nauseated and suffers from an intermittent urge to vomit. (Vomiting happens to be still another defense reaction of the organism, activated when the liver is no longer capable of breaking down the alcohol. The brain then triggers stomach and intestinal spasms aimed at cleaning out whatever remains.) Thanks to this mechanism a certain portion of the residual alcohol is expelled. Alcoholism is a major cause of thinning of the psi field, once a body needs repeated alcohol to keep going, the astral beast's time for harvesting of you is complete, and the feast begins. They call the heavier drinks spirits for a reason, remember that. Ya think that is the end of this episode? think again. Energy currents from the higher mental planes now pass through the spirit bodies and start to break down the alcohol. However, since the cerebral neurons at this developmental stage are not prepared for such a process, their already developed astral and rudimentary mental bodies undergo progressive destruction.

This is indeed an extreme measure on the part of the brain – but it is the only way the organism and the spirit may have a chance to survive and regain, to a greater or lesser degree, a normal state. This is possible only once or – at the very most – twice in a person's life. However, further frequent replays of the above lead to rapid destruction of the mental body's foundation, followed by total annihilation of the astral body as well. That is precisely why an alcoholic's brain post mortem looks exactly like that of a newborn, or sometimes even that of an embryo: virtually smooth all over, with the cortical convolutions totally “ironed out”. Such a brain is actually undergoing a process of reverse evolution. So, if you knew all of the above earlier would your drinking habits have changed? something to ponder nonetheless. Here is where some will get angry lol Drugs and what effect it has on you, it is actually worse than alcohol, oops. Drugs are organic substances possessing powerful etheric structures and markedly negative energy. After consumption they make rapid entry into the bloodstream. And when the concentration of poison reaches a critical point, the spirit opens up the brain neurons on the higher mental level in order to break down the toxins. The neuronal structures on the lower levels begin to disintegrate rapidly as the energy currents from the higher levels start to penetrate them. Concomitantly the narcotics themselves undergo disintegration by the energy currents emanating from the higher mental levels. The subject feels as if their in a state of grace as they see and hear things on other levels of reality, experiencing sensations like never before in their life.

Thus, progressively and irresistibly they are drawn – again and again – to relive the state of bliss they have experienced. However, to again re-open the brain the subject must resort to higher and higher dosages of the drugs... Once again the brain opens up and suffers even more severe damage to its structures – and the next opening requires an even larger dose... The final outcome is the irrevocable ruin of both the organism and the spirit.

Any attempt to open up the brain before it is developmentally ready is like trying to force a young flower bud to open up before its time – the flower wilts and dies and the sight of its beauty is lost forever. In other words drugs are cheating evolution of the evolutionary planes which may give a high for a short time, but lasting damage in some cases is irreparable.

It is only through a harmonious and orderly evolution that the brain can develop the structures of the higher mental plane and achieve the flowering of the LOTUS... It is then that energies from higher mental structures start flowing through the physical and spiritual bodies, imparting to the subject far richer sensations and capacities than narcotics ever could. When the brain and spirit have attained such a development, man is capable – by the power of thought – through his psi-field – to influence the processes unfolding in nature and society. He can freely travel through time and space as well as see and influence the past, present and future – and much, much more.

All that is possible without wrecking one's brain, without destroying one's spirit, it is achieved by creating oneself, and this is quite realistic. All it takes is to desire it and to know how to make it possible. That, in turn, takes knowledge, knowledge and more knowledge... true knowledge of the laws of nature... the knowledge of processes unfolding within ourselves and all around us... Then much of the impossible becomes possible for us.

Again I will ask listeners would you have done things differently if given this knowledge earlier, is the high worth it given the damage it causes? there are no short cuts in evolutionary life, it is only done by doing the hard work. Another way that can be destructive to your psi field is prayer, particularly when done on Earth energy centers, which is what most religious buildings are built upon. What the act of prayer is saying is, you give your life force over to a higher power, prayer and thought goes out through the crown chakra which has to be open to deliver the prayer, oops there is the opening for the vampiric entities again. Pray to the Lord, meaning of the word lord gives you a clue to the intentions set, lord = rule over, have domain over, domineer, it is the Hebrew name given to the fraud Yahweh, like most other changes around that time, The Lords Prayer was introduced in the 14th century, they seem to have introduced a lot of bullshittery around that time, a higher power, well in this writers opinion there is no higher power than yourself, no one is there or here to judge you, you be your own judge, you all no right from wrong, although sadly not everyone exercises personal responsibility. Praise be to the lord they say, for he watches over us and protects us, yeah right he must be blind then to the death, war, destruction, poverty, starvation, crime, depravity, child trafficking, matrix systems, loops, AI machines all on his watch, anyone else with that sort of failure rate would have been fired aeons ago, praise the lord indeed, we need a new sitting on the cloud management team then, me thinks.

SUMMARY

This is another perfect example of lowering your self esteem and psi field degeneration leading to the vicious cycle many of us face on a daily basis, making idols of programmed retards on the TV, cheering on the next politician that promises everything and delivers nothing, but the next one will be different this time, nope, repeating the same mistakes, creates the same situations. What is needed is for people to evolve themselves in a quicker manner via knowledge and deep understanding, more critical thinking, more questioning everything. Learn to be flexible with information, things change, new information comes forward, so don't stick to it rigidly, as that incidentally leads to stunted development. Those that think they know all about a subject whether they are right or wrong, have just inadvertently blocked off their learning curve, remember how I describe the truth bubble and how to expand it, how can you expand it if you think you know everything? always leave open possibilities as that leads to growth. Eventually you get to a position where information you require finds you, rather than you searching for it, that possibility is not open to a closed mind. We all at times believe we are right on everything, but does that not then end up becoming a defense mechanism for ourselves? where we feel we have to fight or argue for the need to be right? rather than moving forward and seeking greater knowledge? which is the better path for our own development? clearly the next learning base of knowledge is, as it just might change the last one or could re-affirm your previous assertion. Progress can only be made on this planet, if everyone is given the full truth and the ability to receive the knowledge in whatever format. This requires a massive undertaking of change, the like of which has never been seen in a long time here. The laws of nature function whether or not man understands them, but from now on, humanity will be unable to survive and progress without this understanding. Frankly, unless we learn to live life according to the fundamental laws of nature, there will be no one left to evolve on our majestic, blue planet Earth.

As it stands it does not require a nuclear war for man's demise. If we continue to abuse and meddle with nature, without heeding her laws, we will self-destruct faster than a nuclear or EMP weapon could ever dispatch us. We must be ever mindful of Christ's warning: "When the blind lead the blind they shall both fall into a pit." This is what we are facing now, the blind leading the blind, but there are many here to help currently, and much progress is being made on that front. For our part, many would do well to go through all the Levashov materials and get a greater understanding, I have only covered the bases as such, there is much more to learn. Read through the Wingmaker's material also 1 through 5, all heavy reading but you will come out of it with are far greater knowledge than when you went into it, this will then give you some sort of overview of what is playing out here. Aug Tellez has a load of background material to cover, Shane The Ruiner and his blog covered in much detail of things we have faced in the past, the now and the future. I will be preparing at least 3 more of these type of shows coming up soon, so we can all leap forward with the knowledge. The "god" of knowledge was called Sin for a reason, the Roman Catholic church, Draco and other rogue entities have spent many thousands of years denying us knowledge and classing it as a SIN to eat the fruit of knowledge, NO, it is a crime to not devour from the knowledge base, and more importantly act upon it. "Knowledge becomes wisdom, only after it has been put to practical use." The bigger picture often mentioned, but sadly too few realize how big that picture is or what it fully entails.

We must continue to do our inner work, deal with our shadow sides, get rid of the trauma based energies we carry, get rid of our inner fears, remove all baggage, the great purging of ourselves, once we have all done that, they have no leverage over us anymore, so then we can all go forward with a clear head, heart, body and spirit. The sands of time tick down for the cabal and our doomsday clock, ticks closer to midday, their doomsdays clock is midnight as they operate from the dark, ours is midday, as we operate from the light. Be safe, be strong, be prepared, and most importantly never let anyone put in you in any fear. JOHN FARNHAM - THE VOICE
