I HAVE A DREAM Blueprint report for week ending 30th July 2023 The great work of all the teams continues at a pace now, as you will learn from this update show. A reminder of all that has been done in the past 12 months: What has developed in the past year, massive website improvements, massive development of the communal gatherings, the launch of the Blueprint, the books, the introduction of a new show The Blueprint show. The development and release of two books FHSTOS plus done in various languages, the Consent book, the Divine Masculine and Feminine book. The development of The Blueprint book done by the book team. We have added platforms like twitter, tik tok and Instagram. Katie doing the youth team group. The Kevin presentations, Michael presentations. The development and integration of the village, the setting of a higher baseline frequency within the village and beyond, the introduction of village businesses. The introduction of common sense call, the showing of higher level presentations to some of you, the advancement of the EU members following the trip in May, the breakdown of their world and their programs courtesy of the collective consciousness and work of THI, THI past shows and thoughts now becoming the news. All that has been done in just one year and we are nicely placed now to impose our ideas and wishes on the people in the run up to the next elections.

BOOK TEAM UPDATE: The Bulgarian translation of From His Story to Our Story is undergoing a final post-formatting check and will be published when that is completed. Some tech difficulties have played a part in the delay. The Hebrew translator is working on the Blueprint. A Dutch team is also working on the Blueprint, as are a Romanian team, a German team and a Spanish team. The French translation will be on the website soon. Translators will also prepare a mailer to be sent out with the Blueprint PDFs in due course.

RESEARCH TEAM UPDATE: The Blueprint Research Team has completed their original assignment, of gleaning influencer names from fourteen months of THI Shows - March 2022 to April 2023. We hope that our work will also be useful to the Show indexing team. The database of those names with at least one form of contacting them is in the final stages of design testing. We are merging data for duplicate name listings and filling in further data for all the names. A "Suggestion Template" form has been posted in the file section of the Blueprint Mewe page, for use by members when we ask for more of their input in the near future. We have been able to provide Thomas with his requested Top 18 names and contact information. Finally - and at long last - we have been able to send the Twitter addresses for those same names to the media team.

The Peoples Colors July report: The members of The Peoples Colors communal gathering have been utilizing their many talents to support and augment the New Blueprint for Humanity team efforts in research, music, Twitter accounts and any other way we can. For the time being, we are combining and supporting the great efforts for a fantastic rollout of our magnificent Blueprint.

MEDIA TEAM UPDATE: Twitter – THI account – We currently are looking for someone to take over the Twitter THI account. If anyone has an interest in working with us to help put the content out each day, please get in touch. We are currently doing well and having more engagement, we want to keep this going. Twitter The blueprint account- We are getting a steady trickle of followers and more engagement on the tweets, with members sharing and commenting this has increased the views. We encourage others to use their own personal accounts to engage with people, they feel could benefit from the Blueprint. With the list of influencers now prepared, this will begin the process of actively engaging with their platforms. Telegram – This account is used to cover all of our projects, the blueprint, twitter, the book and the mewe groups, like the people’s colors and the Communal gatherings. It is also very easy to download the memes and videos that will enable you to share on your own personal accounts. So please feel free to take the content and share it. You Tube – The channel has had new followers since we reopened the account. The views are increasing slightly. The Blueprint show will be posted in its entirety, while the main shows are just intros with the link provided to avoid targeting on the account. The focus is mainly on pushing the blueprint and raising awareness to that audience. Putting out the entire show may get a better reaction. Tik – Tok – We now have a member willing to help with this channel, this may take a few weeks to get going, but there is some content there to share already on the channel. We also use members music in the videos and would love to attract more people, that have musical abilities to send us some of their music. This aids the frequency and avoids copyright strikes, especially on you tube.

WEB TEAM UPDATE: The setup to distribute the Blueprint PDF via email is ready and satisfactory testing has been completed working with the BP Research Team. Further liaising with the BP Research Team is needed on the email content, timing of these emails, who should send them out, etc. but other than that this email channel is ready to be called upon when needed. The bulk of the data input for the new gardening website has been completed in record time by the contributors who volunteered to help. We thank them for their prompt action and great team working. The next phase is about updating supporting images and reference texts here and there, plus final touches to the look and feel of the website. We expect to go live with the new gardening website soon, much sooner than initially expected proof that many hands make light work. The THI encyclopedia project is also progressing well with significant progress made by the contributors working on this project; additional contributors are in the process of joining the team, so we expect the progress to continue and even speed up. This is great to see and we thank the people involved. For the 10-year anniversary of Thomas being a radio show host, a number of THI-URs searched through the extensive THI archive of shows and put together a great collection of most powerful and empowering THI pieces. The Best of THI Show, the 2023 edition, included 39 pieces which members voted on last weekend with the winners announced on the public anniversary Zoom call which took place on Sunday 30th July. The complete playlist with their vote rankings will be made available shortly and will for sure serve as a good refresher for existing THI members, as well as inspiration and taster of what THI is about to new members. The favorite piece for 2023 was "If you lead life in love and care", a true hallmark of THI material. The members will try to find a way to keep next year's winner under wraps until it is formally announced by the team, given that this year this piece was "leaked" in Thomas's introductory speech on the anniversary Zoom call. However, as access to universal consciousness is free and open to those with the right development, the same may happen again in 2024 and we yet again prove that we are very much on the same page and we draw information and inspiration from the same universal consciousness. We are one after all and inorganic technology simply cannot stand in the way.

NEWCOMERS ZOOM: We continue to send a welcome message to all newcomers and now have a chance to meet with a member. While this is called a newcomers group, it is also there to help any member that would like to get more familiar with all the groups that are doing great work, and maybe find something they want to take part in. So, don't be shy, we all started off here at one point and understand that it can feel a bit daunting to chat in the groups or join in. So, for anyone hanging back please feel free to contact us, we all have our own uniqueness that brings so much to all, and taking the leap of faith brings a great sense of freedom and belonging.

YOUTH WEBSITE: This project is ongoing and will take some time to pull the many great ideas together. We will also add the new Divine Masculine and Feminine booklet to the website, as it such a wonderful contribution and useful for youngers members to begin to understand the concept for their own development. Our youth are our future and we in THI recognize the importance of their voice, and their ability to bring much to the table. If you have any young people in your home or family, we would love to hear their ideas, so contact us in any group or main chat and we would be very happy to take those ideas on board.

LAW GROUP: A reminder that there will be a zoom on Sunday August the 6th which will cover sacraments of baptism, salvation and penance and how modern courts operate. This will take place via zoom at 4pm PST – 7pm EST, UK midnight EU 1am (7th) For anyone that would like to join please pm Roger. Recently Roger and I attended a recorded podcast on a UK channel all about law. But the conversation went into many things due to the questions by the host. It is a very interesting conversation and also a lesson for us all into how to deal with and speak to, awkward or leading questions. That podcast I am told will be made available to us on August 6th or thereabouts.

OPEN DISCUSSION TOPICS AND QUESTIONS: A general discussion ensued with questions from those that attended the meeting. This is an open meeting and anyone can attend to just listen in or offer suggestions. A member put forward using our own personal accounts to target influencers with a large following, that may align with certain solutions. The idea being that if enough people are repeating our message, it can help not to be bombarded from the Blueprint sites and plant seeds of a growing message in the collective that needs to be paid attention too. It was also discussed to target the up-and-coming presidential campaigns, would targeting the Campaign offices with the election coming. The younger members are more altruistic, as they want to make a name for themselves. Younger campaign members might be more open to hearing the message. Another suggestion was to send the pdf to lobby groups or special interest groups, as some of these are already campaigning for change. Our solutions could be a gate way for the change they need. In the future we need to know how to talk to these people, what is the approach that could be used? Would using a personal approach help? We need people to take on leadership roles. Preparing ourselves for these roles, is something that all members can think about going forward. There is now a cap on taking names of influencers, as the goal now is, to set up a clear way forward in delivery and response. Anyone that has already sent copies of the pdf, or the blueprint book is asked to keep track personally of any feedback. This will all be correlated on a spreadsheet that may be divided into the separate countries, with a member from each country taking charge of their own information.

In overview: With such a huge task at hand it can be easy to become overwhelmed and lose focus. A member pointed out the following: All we need to do is send out the frequency as overthinking leads to frustration. They said; We are trying to pre-empt the ugly because it is going to get ugly. We need to tap into the person and go with the flow of what they need to hear. Collectively we need to create that mindset, as we have the people that have that ability to hold the frequency of the blueprint. We need to weave the tapestry. The compromised need a way out too, we made the beach, but they need a landing spot too. A Tabula rasa will be the salvation. Holding balance is key during this time, and we have gathered enough learning to hold the 45/55 when we need to step into their world. We ended the meeting with the following. We do not accept their reality; we are manifesting our reality. The Blueprint is our reality, how will you co-create into the new future. We are not asking permission nor are we asking for help. We are offering an opportunity to join us in manifesting a reality that is beneficial for all humanity. It is merely an invitation. Those that resonate with the frequency will join us, those that do not will fall away from our reality. We are on the beachhead; we are holding our hands out for them to join us. Each individual must choose, it is not for us to judge, it is what it is, a free will choice. They must reach for our hand, meet us in the middle, take their first step. It is not for us to go get them, it is for them to choose to reach out, take our hand and choose the opportunity we offer. We do not need to operate in their systems. Our frequency will reach them, we scatter the seeds and shine our lights. Many are not desperate enough yet to join us, that time is coming. We will be here, the way-showers, the guardians, for those who are ready to let go of the old reality that no longer has a purpose and to join us in manifesting the Blueprint. Our focus need not be on the five senses, there is no need to think nor to concentrate. When we calm our heart mind, life force, living power flows through us naturally. It flows everywhere like an infinite ocean and when natural, we are one with it. We are the Universe; the Universe is us. This is a naturally occurring phenomenon, a state of mind and being. When we are one with all creation, one with the Universe, we can sense the rhythm of the Universe, which calms us, we can feel the Universe. It is about feeling, not thinking. We can then feel the right direction, flow with the universe, go where it takes us. It's about being natural, letting life force, living power flow freely and riding on it. When we are one with everything, when we manifest outcomes that are beneficial for all creation, the universe will guide us, collaborate with us and show us the way. This is a process of co-creation. We must do our part and the Universe will respond. Our dream is the reality, we are dreaming a big dream. There is no need to fear, no need to despond. We have come here to anchor the new frequencies, manifest the new blueprint. Know who you are, trust in yourself, trust in the Universe, trust the process for it is done already. The Blueprint is our reality, we do not accept, nor do we manifest their reality, it no longer exists for us. Awareness loves life, we are awareness, we are life. The hard work is done, the word has been written, let it land where it may. Sterling stuff, if that does not sing to you what has been read out so far, you are lost in your own illusions or filled with envy. Transmute both into being a better version of yourself. PAUL SONG

WHAT IS VALUE? What is value? In the modern society the term value is beyond corrupted and corruptible, there are so many examples in life to mention but we'll cover just a few. Home values, has become a millstone around our necks to feed the greed elements within society, which is why I had the idea of the TPC village, where the house price is builders cost plus 10%, the price goes up or down depending on inflation rate only. Not deliberately engineered harvesting traps of energy, called the boom and bust cycle, that everyone is aware of, yet too few act on it. I warned people back in 2006 that home prices would drop 40%, people in my circle laughed, but not for much longer. I had my house up for sale for $320K at the time, I reduced it after 2-3 weeks to $285K and sold it the next day. Less than 12 months later that same home was worth $150K less than I sold mine for, the people in my circle were no longer laughing, and got angry at me for jumping out at the right time, but I did tell them it would plunge 40% only to find I was low in that estimation, it was near 60-70% drop. That type of action where I made money that time, other times we had lost much on home transactions, did and does not sit well with me, it is playing a lottery game with people's homes and lives, which is one of the five basics in life, too few win and most lose, and pay a very heavy cost in their lifestyles. It is the cause of much illness and mental instability in people, a reduction of the self, and also plays heavily into the number of divorces as well, the impacts it has on the children, all in all it is very destructive in so many ways. So why are we participating in that way? where eventually we all lose, we are doing the bankers greed program for them, and it ends up with people on the streets. One of the biggest lacks in real value is creativity, the world of arts, crafts and music in particular, vast quantities of time placed within those disciplines, and yet so little in terms of monetary values of the hours put in to produce it. Unless of course you are in the so called upper circle of people, with too much money buying all kinds of shit, wrapped up in a memetics word as fashion, which means to form or give shape to, or more indicatively conforming to preselected tastes. This is an example of programming, somebody else telling you this is fashionable, which is a fancy word for you must buy this item, and we will massively overcharge you for the value of this item, and yet so many fall for it is the sad aspect. Organic food, supplements and vitamins falls under that trap. Personally, what is called high end fashion wants me to do my mewe gif all day, fashion like art is predetermined by people with money but no sense, and we follow that? We have an array for talented artists within our own group, and yet if they all spent the next 10 years painting or drawing and then selling their life force energy of that work, it would generate considerably less than one of Van Gogh crap paintings, why is that? a lack of what is real value is what. Only a complete halfwit can look at a Van Gogh painting, and think wow that is fantastic and I will bid $4M for it, I wonder whether he really lost his ear and it wasn't his eyes, because they are no better than some mildly talented 8th grade student could do, and less talented than some in our own group. But it only takes some engineered think tank group like the CFR or 300 Committee to create a brand, tell people this is a must have item or you're not cool or fashionable, over promoting it and it sells to a gullible public. A public trying to act all sophisticated and not being themselves, it's all in the words again is it not, they create a brand and brand us with it, just like the branding of cattle is it not? re-enforcing the we are chattel meme. Is money value? it depends at which angle you come at that question does it not? It has implied value as without it you can't survive in most cases, so from that aspect yes it does, but it is not real money is it? it doesn't pay off your debts, only discharges them. From other aspects it is a control and class system, have and have nots, creates greed not need, and for the famous it oozes out of every pore and people get envious, then go into a life of crime or debt to copy that lifestyle, because you won't get to that lofty height working for $10-15 an hour at McDonalds. Or the most common aspects is to go into massive amounts of debt to copy a lifestyle created by the branding people in magazines and adverts. Ponder on this and you personally win the lottery, and you then repeat many other lottery winners traits, you buy the big house, buy the vacation home, go on several vacations around the world, over indulge yourself in all the must have items, buy cars, boats and planes and it's all great and living the high life, but what happens next? Likely you are not with your same partner, or the same friends either as you are mixing in higher circles now, who are essentially vacuous people out of touch with reality. What that lottery win did was bring you was, a world of fakery and illusion, look at me I'm rich whilst ignoring there are many in the world who are suffering, whilst the lottery winner gorges on everything and leaves scraps in their wake. Money is a poor exchange for what it really stands for is, your life force energy, an hour of your time is equal to an hour of anyone else time, who decides cleaning the streets, toilets or offices is only worth pittance, yet sitting at a desk talking shit, acting important and clicking pens, whilst abusing the secretary is worth $100k's a year? Well I studied for this and got degrees and so I should earn more they will say, my reply was you were given shite to learn and followed it. Like doctors they spend 7 years training and yet not one minute is spent learning cures, which is the definition of their job, to make people better is it not? not exactly with that training is it? Your PHD's, degrees, certificates mean jack if it doesn't provide some sort of benefit for the all, I have little to none degrees, certificates or other system pieces of paper, does that make me unintelligent? Unwise? Or stupid? No. I just didn't play their game. Those pieces of paper where because your parents mostly went into debt or you did. So, what is value? people with loads of money are or rarely look happy, why? because after you have bought everything with pieces of paper, there is still key ingredients of life missing that money will never buy, love, compassion, caring and sharing, or a life and more importantly time. Time is the value; all time is equal and so subsequently all professions time and value should be equal as well. It is not always possible given the variety of factors, but something society should work on in the next two generations as it means more will have an equal share. What happens to value in no time? As time is a construct, where is the value? But you just said time is the value Thomas, yes, I did, but you didn't think deep enough. Where is the value outside of time? Who is the value? What is the value? They told us our value in the Jupiter Ascending movie, the most precious resource in the Universe was: this version of human and this planet. Do we recognize it as such? No! all squandered in a myriad of the most bizarre ways, most of which are not only not creative, but destructive to boot. We can't in many cases recognize our own values, due to low self-worth, no value of the self, blocked hearts, blocked throats, blocked third eye, blocked sex and sacral chakras. Little me and limitation programs, fear, acting as bridesmaids but never the bride, acting as best men but never the groom. Blocking the one frequency that can change you all, love. If you deny yourself experiences in life, how can you learn? How will you know what is life, love or value? The essence of 100 children was bottled in each of those vials in the movie, they recognized the importance and value of it, why don't we? Do you understand what is the value now?

WHAT IS THE FUTURE? What is the future, everything that is in front of you, as you walk forward you are heading into the future, look behind you or walk backwards, it is the past. Standing still is not the now either, as you are always in motion, motion is time and space, and yet can be argued it is neither also, so you are always moving, you just don't perceive it that way. Let the past go, it serves us no purpose now, too much has been dealt with, too much has been exposed now, it's time to be with the vision of going forward, then going into the past. That past provides insights to protect and envision our future, but it needs not to be a tool to mire ourselves down with. By going back to try to change the past and subsequently try to alter the future, this was our biggest mistake. We have to observe the past, from a place of neutral not active or reactive, assess it, develop hindsight and bring it into the now, for assessment. We have to learn the lessons and release it, then go forward from the here and now to create the different future, not the past. The past is not in the future we are going out of the loops, that is why it was your role to clear your bloodline, so they are not burdened in the next phase, for many the slate needed to be cleaned, not by reset, but by hard work and endeavor. So, what is the future? You, what you create and then manifest. That is the only future available, what are you going to create? What are you going to love? What are you going to be? How are you going to act? These are the things to decide the future for you to make. The future is ours to see and be. Your future will be as bright, pleasant and easy as you make it, unless of course you have fear. Fear is the past, not the future, with fear you are manifesting an unpleasant future for yourself. And remember, everything you have ever wanted is on the other side of fear. FOLLOW YOUR HEART
