

THI-SHOW TRANSCRIPT 2023-11-23

Today we start and finish with a heart song. Welcome to the heart-based show, why does the heart go on the song asks, because the heart will always eventually repair itself and move on, it is the fake love in the head where the real damage occurs. The heart love brings forgiveness and a better future, head love bring bitter, twisted and angry departures and keeps you stuck in the past. The heart can and will repair itself ready for its next journey, the head stays in the past and will not repair, that is the difference. In essence being in the heart is manifesting your own future and path, the head will always keep you repeating the past and the reminder of failures within you from the past. Let us ensure all THI members become heart based, because that then is truly setting the example.

I wish to celebrate not thanksgiving, but my thanks for you all giving to me in terms of paypal, patreon, the books and your support of the TPC. Plus all those who give their time to the cause. So a special thanks for giving day and year from me. Hope you all enjoyed your politician, oh I mean turkey, without burning it, fire, fire, fire!

BLUEPRINT ACTION GROUP REPORT FOR WEEK ENDING THE 19TH OF NOVEMBER 2023

BOOKS: The Bulgarian Blueprint email is translated and available for use. The Bulgarian Divine Masculine and Divine Feminine booklet is ready for the website and the Bulgarian Consent booklet has been modified slightly and is available for the website. The Hebrew Blueprint digital versions are now available. The Polish Consent booklet is prepared and uploaded for the web team. The team met to discuss changes to the From His Story to Our Story series and the creation of a new series. Potential new covers were created and sent for assessment: The image was acquired and front-page designs were proposed for 2 books, along with a unique design for the spine for new series. Back cover text was modified for From His Story to Our Story Volume 3 and for the new series. A query was sent to a software company about right-to-left text capability; however, the company has no such capability currently and will not have in the near future. The German Consent and the German Divine Masculine and Divine Feminine booklets are translated, formatted, reviewed and available for the website. QR codes have been created for memes and memes prepared with the Romanian, Bulgarian and Hebrew PDF QR links, to supplement existing English, French and Polish QR Blueprint memes. Acknowledgement pages of Volume 3 and the new series have been modified to include new members of the team. From His Story to Our Story Volume 1 German corrections have been made and the base version formatted for PDF, digital, and paperback versions. The back cover text and extra text for publication is translated and the FHSTOS front cover prepared along with an ad meme. The German Volume 1 full cover is prepared, complete with barcode. From His Story to Our Story front cover images have been made available to the media team to make a video. The former From His Story to Our Story Volume 3 that is now part of the new series has had its full initial edit and former Volumes 4 and 5 have been altered and rearranged to make up the new series and new Volume 3. The index files made previously have been revised to reflect the changes to the books. The new FHSTOS Volume 3 indexing and formatting are completed and the PDF, digital, and paperback versions are prepared. The Volume 3 paperback cover is started and awaiting the barcode and ISBN required for publication. The German translation of Volume 1 is now live on Lulu.

RESEARCH TEAM:

The Blueprint Research Team had a comprehensive meeting covering the successes of its ongoing missions and the growth of the database. The full minutes are posted in Mewe and Trello. A new report was created to keep a distribution progress tally. As of 12 November 2023, 24 books have been mailed by US Postal Service and 45 pdf's E-mailed from the website to select influencers. That makes a total of 69 direct contacts made. Included in those contacts were the Prime Ministers of all 10 Canadian Provinces and 3 Territories. The distribution pace will continue to be in segments of 20 influencers biweekly until January. The choices come from several 'first priority' lists. One of the lists is of the recently added 86 names of U.S. national and regional mainstream media, that list will continue to grow. We have email addresses for a large percentage. For the remaining percentage, we found phone numbers to call and get the appropriate Editor's email address. The bi-weekly time breaks allow for response tracking and reporting. It also helps with time for ongoing database completion. Regarding that database completion, the Research Team is grateful for the response by the Common-sense group volunteers, who answered the challenge for 1-hour-per-week help. Each took 12 Influencer names with zero contact data; their online search findings will fill in the database gaps. In the area of database expansion, a Dutch member recently provided us with names of 16 Netherland Influencers and their email addresses. A Canadian member has volunteered to personally send the pdf by email to Members of all Canadian provincial and territorial Legislators, Senators and top government officials. We will be reporting those names once the emails with pdf's are sent. As a note to members sending us an influencers name in the Mewe chats, please take the time to find an email or physical mailing address for them, even a website address would be helpful. One name with one bit of contact information equals saved time for our team and is another way of answering the challenge of volunteering 1-hour-per-week towards our common goal. Direct messaging that information to one of our team members would be even more helpful. In conclusion, the Research Team is also very grateful to the Book Team, Web Team, Media Team and TPC Europe partners who work diligently with us to facilitate smooth and trackable distribution of the Blueprint PDF. They provide a lot of technical work in the background. Out of the 11 emails sent to Canadian premiers, 4 replied with automatic replies acknowledging receipt of the email. We also sent 2 outstanding emails which failed on previous runs: Shaun Attwood (care of Ash Meikie) and Freddie Ponton.

Books that were sent out since last report went to:

Daniel Cameron – Attorney General

Jeff Landry – Attorney General

Lynn Fitch – Attorney General

Andrew Bailey – Attorney General

Austin Knudsen – Attorney General

Mike Hilgers – Attorney General

Paul Vallely – Former US Military General

Rod Bishop – Commander of 3rd Air Force.

MEDIA TEAM REPORT:

The team is having some push back on Instagram, Tik Tok and You Tube. On Instagram we have had posts taken down and spam in our comments and inbox. Telegram is finding copywrite issues with our videos, but there is an option to choose their music, but means the post is suppressed unless you change the music to theirs. You tube is still removing our old podcasts, the last one being the year end show for 2019. We can take this as an issue or we can keep moving forward. The good news is we did receive a request for a link to the website on Tik Tok and people are liking the comments left on others posts which means we are being seen, which is the whole point. We still need help from the members to push the posts out further, this seems to be difficult to get the members attention to aid the sites. We can only keep requesting that the members like and share our posts. It seems to be a reflection of what is going on in the bigger scheme of things. The 1% are showing up and doing the work. I personally posted the same meme on my tik Tok account that went on the THI account, I got almost a thousand views, while the THI one only got just over 200. I only have 5 followers on my personal tik Tok account, same meme no difference. This highlights the power the members have on their own personal accounts. So, we really need more of this from the members. We continue to share the links in the chat and main page to all the social media sites and would appreciate you taking a moment to open the link and click like. Without your help with this we will not grow, we need our own members to get behind us and help us to be seen and heard. Thank you to those of you that help us with this and those that share on their own accounts. Those five minutes of your time all add up and increase our reach enormously. Local communities could also be a way of spreading the word, flyers and business cards are something we have looked at and will return to in the coming weeks. Leaving a flyer in a local shop or library could be an alternative for anyone that prefers to stay off social media. The team will pause on data collection for now, until the research team have updated the sheet with the help of the new members that came onboard recently. We have collected 40 twitter handles and Instagram addresses. Once the research team's overall data collection is finalized, we will go back and try to fill in any gaps. Some of the members will be away during December so we will do our best to keep the posting going during that time. We will look at alternative ways to push the blueprint also if shadow banning continues. Thomas: The very fact we are being shadow banned tells its own story. They do not want our material out there, all of which means they think it is valid and would create a sea of change they are not wishing. We can change all of that by everyone chipping in and increasing our efforts. Clearly the Blueprint and our other material bothers them, what is a better way to increase their fears, us working together and flooding the internet with the Blueprint. That way it goes viral and they cannot stop it.

YOUTH WEBSITE:

The Youth Team met on Friday, November 10th to continue to discuss the development of content for the youTHInk different website and how to attract youth to THI and the New Blueprint. We were joined by 2 new volunteers, Rochelle and Truus. It's great to see more people stepping forward to help out. One of our biggest challenges is there is no shortage of good ideas; however, the rubber has hit the road, it is time for action and much work is required to meet our January deadline to have the website operational. For folks who wish to help us, we ask that you decide how much time you are willing to commit to do the work needed. Many hands make light work, so the more the merrier. We especially need to attract younger members of the THI community. Currently our average age is more aligned with the dinosaurs than the youth!! Topics of discussion at the last meeting were:

Target audience: We tend to refer to youth as kids or children. Kids are baby goats and we are aiming our messaging at the 16 to the late 20s demographic, not children, so we made a conscious effort to refer to youth and young adults in our discussion. It is this age group that is 2 generations from ours and it is this group that will have the most influence on the younger generations. Our messaging needs to be focused and we are looking for young adults to join the youth team to start leading the initiatives, we need their ideas. Eventually we feel it would be good to reach a younger audience; however, we agreed that we need to focus on the young adult demographic first. If we expand our scope too much too soon, we will be unable to deliver our objectives for the launch of the website.

How to Reach Young Adults and Give Them a Voice: We agreed that the best way to reach out is to develop concise memes that ask searching questions, rather than deliver a large amount of content. We want to encourage critical thinking and thought processes that awaken the desire for more knowledge. This would be the catalyst for a young mind to engage the website and reach out to others. The website will then provide a platform to find more information, communicate, share ideas, find answers and build community. We also want to encourage them to think about what makes a great leader, who inspires them, who do they listen to, which will influence how we craft our messaging to focus on what they care about the most. Many youths feel pressurized today and they see a world that is polarized to extremes, there seems to be no middle ground. The youTHInk website and community will provide an environment where they feel safe, can relax, can share ideas and not feel pressure or be judged. This should also help them push through a mindset of living in fear. We also hope to help them see that there is much that can be done to solve the problems we face in society, so they do not feel helpless and just give up.

How can we make this cool: We shared thoughts on how to make compassion and the Divine Feminine and Masculine cool. Rochelle shared an idea to create an anime “comic” book character of Ghibli animation quality. Ghibli is a very popular anime character in the anime community. This idea can be expanded to appeal to different groups, making characters for the BP, THI and the Vedas. Rochelle knows some young people who are talented at art, she will engage with them and see if she can come up with a small frame by frame demo to illustrate the concept.

A Living Library: The Danish have pioneered the idea of a living library, whereby people can schedule an hour conversation with an elder about any topic of their choosing. This connects younger people with older, more experienced people, to gain real life experience, wisdom to help them with the issues they face. The youTHInk website could become a living library for young adults. Many THI members have much to share, by adding a living library section, youth can schedule time to Zoom or meet in person with a THI member based on topics to be discussed. This would be a great way to offer encouragement, earn trust and build positive relationships with the younger audience. In time, young adults can be a living library for younger teens and children as well. This idea also expanded to include, “Hey Youth”, “Youth Connect”, “Tell us your Story” or “Tell us your Vision” sections to encourage youth to post meaningful content with each other, rather than the selfies and meaningless content most share on Tik Tok and other platforms these days. This would encourage youth and young adults to share their dreams and vision of the future, tell their stories and connect with like-minded young people around the world to share ideas. This is an exciting time for the Youth Team with much creative thinking going on and new ideas emerging organically. Please reach out to the Youth Team if you are ready and willing to roll up your sleeves and help us. Just say “Hey Youth Team, I want to help” on the Main Mewe Chat and one of us will reach out. Thomas: Another idea for the Youth team based on the living library is, we could council the youth on addictions of varying kinds, how to look after their health, how to develop spiritually. There are many members with experience of this and could be a useful way of engagement.

WEB TEAM:

We are pleased to announce the launch of the new gardening website which can be accessed at organicliving.thenewblueprintforhumanity.org. The gardening team and the web team together with our willing contributors have worked over the last few months. To create this new website based on the large dataset of vegetables, fruit and nuts, plus culinary and household herbs which the gardening team have collated. We thank all those who contributed to make the new organic living website possible, namely Rebecca and Glen from the gardening team, the awesome team of contributors made up of Brigid, Susan, Nick, and Rich, and last, but not least, our lead web designer and developer, you know who you are, who has created another fresh website for us, pun intended. The Plants Index page is particularly striking visually with its many images which were collected with patience and care from the Wikimedia Commons library. Once again, a big thank you to all involved for your time and effort and dedication to this project; may it serve as a useful reference guide to young and old. We hope it will inspire a return to getting one's hands dirty in the garden getting in touch with our food, nature, our planet and ultimately with ourselves. Our translator contributors have been busy as well. As a result, on thinkdifferent.thepeoplesclub.org we have published new translations of the Consent booklet (now also available in Bulgarian, German and Polish) and also the Sacred Divine Masculine / Feminine booklet (now also available in German). Please have a look and share these translations with your friends and family where you are.

Discussion and ideas:

The main discussion was focused on the European group, which have begun the task of adapting and translating the Blueprint to their countries needs and languages. This is a big task, with the emphasis on each countries different translations brings adaptations regarding how to interpret Solutions such as the Law Solution which has a very specific structure and the correct interpretation is key. Understanding Ucadia Law is needed so the concept and information remains unchanged from the original format and concept.

There will also be areas within organisations such as EU-European Union, 27-member state.

EEC, European Economic Community, 1958-2009 revised in 1993

EEG European Economic Group

G7 Group Of 7

EEA

UN - Intergovernmental advance economies of major IMF Political Forum. Leading to the UN Charter 1945, 1963, 1965, 1973 revisions. Founding members China, France, Soviet Union, United States and United Kingdom.

All of the above are all or once were connected to the UK and also Europe. Some were replaced or overlapped in terms of bilateral agreements etc. One thing or rule of law is that, when applying the principles of the new (European Union), Countries such as Japan, Canada, USA, China, and Russia are an integral part of the decision chain and let us not forget to so called British Commonwealth. So getting this right, so it represents us and will not lead to any discrepancies in the future. If any member has knowledge that can help the teams on these subjects or indeed any subject, please contact anyone from the Blueprint Team or the European group. We also decided to speak about the Blueprint with three people this month, during this time of great change, remaining silent is not an option. One member stated that it takes 20 seconds of courage to speak up or step up. Every voice matters in THI, our courage can help others not in THI to step up also. You never know who needs to hear about our Blueprint until you tell them. So, with this concept we will be brave, put our big girl and boy pants on and speak up.

In Overview:

Making changes is not always easy, learning to listen can take time, as your head may be full of your own questions and not pausing to hear what others have to say. Is the head leading you astray, keeping you in your own loops and traps? Can we switch from head to heart easily or do we look external at others and view them as the ones that may be further ahead or have more knowledge and capability than we view within ourselves. So, we stay silent this binds our own growth, in essence no one grows when others are not heard. Each group within the Blueprint asks the following questions after the delivery of their report, has anyone got any suggestions or questions. In general, members attend with their questions ready. Though some will have ideas to share and this leads to a broader discussion, which is a crucial part of the meeting. This is the time where the safety of our own group is put on show for others to critique and offer suggestions for Solutions. This is an especially important part where we have to learn to listen openly and take what is said without being triggered or defensive. There may have been weeks of planning and creating that came before you asked the question. You may be sure that your choice is the right choice and while you may have reasons for making these choices, it does not necessarily mean they will serve the purpose for which they were intended. So being open to hearing other's suggestions and ideas with an open heart, is key to personal and group progress. Learning to work on behalf of humanity, may mean that you must change course often, redirect or reassess your actions. While it may have been your idea, it is in truth for and on behalf of humanity. Discerning what works and what does not is vital in making good choices. Listening is key to keeping things in perspective and staying on track of the mission at hand. Asking questions often brings answers and then points of view can broaden, for no one picture contains the whole story. Once you learn to truly listen with your heart and not your head, the right path opens and flow returns. The bigger picture is never truly set in stone, it is organic, ever changing and evolving. Like the flower of life, it is made up of many parts that becomes the One.

WHAT IS LOVE? This piece was written around 4 years ago and we have decided to revisit that series of pieces done back then. What is life, What is coming together, what is value, what is human and this piece what is love. All of which in the time between these two pieces will tell you where you have developed and where you have not. One of the members at that time asked me what is love? do we really know? again like last week and the recent pieces have we defined it? An emotion that is far too casually used in words, memes and throw away lines these days. It is one of the reasons I am not overly enamored with Xmas or birthday cards, sweet poems, sugary based lines all mass produced and none of those words came from the heart of the person giving the card. Those are not your words written on that card, it was written by marketing strategy-based groups, all designed to sell, but love is not something to sell or buy, it is not a bloody marketing tool. The definition of what is love and the descriptions of it today, really goes nowhere near the real meaning of it and is often dictated now in a society that has lost its way, with a majority of people who don't care beyond their own bubble world. By bubble world I mean those within their own circle, and even in their own circle there is bitchiness, comparative and competitive mindsets, envy and a desire to have to be better than the next person. We have all done it and that has to change, if real love is to be garnered. I am pleased to see many of our members stepping away from that bubble, but their world is riddled with it. Love is a higher vibrational frequency, how can many give or experience it, with low vibrational frequencies and energies? they can't, so they fake it, many will not like that statement, but on a frequency level it is true. If everyone is so loving, why is the world in such a mess? clearly as a collective we are not. You have loads of people who don't even love themselves, because they are comparing their looks, life, belongings and achievements with other people. If people don't love themselves, which means they don't have that frequency contained within them, how can you put out the same frequency to someone else, that you don't have for yourself? as within so without, ponder on that for a second. The issue is you can't, but you can fake it, you can say it a thousand times a day and believe it, but love is not words, words can lie, words are spells, actions even can be staged or faked, but frequencies don't. You can't really love others, if the self doesn't love itself. It becomes a projection of love, a false image like the mirror, an archetype of what it means, not real love, and society needs to learn that for future development as a species, we are not here to compete, but grow as a collective. I love my partner or husband or wife because he buys me things or they give me what I want, again at the base level that is not love, love can't be bought, no matter how many cars, homes or apparel is bought, you can never buy a frequency, like heaven it is a state of being. If money bought love, why are all the elites miserable looking bastards? Why are many of the elites all cavorting with several different partners? is that love? Love has become distorted by lust and sex, but just having sex with someone does not make it love, sex is meant to be a pleasure act, which many do alone, with one partner or several partners before they find love, or so they think. Only for many to find once the novelty of the sexual act wears off, their desire to be with that person is not the same, and so many seek affairs for various reasons some of which are valid, some of which are not, the latter being the higher category. We have seen the rise of people loving the same sex particularly the last 3-5 decades, but is that based on the sex act or real love? or is it role play? which many couples do in their own bedroom to spice things up, but there is a contradiction in loving the same sex partner? Where the man dresses in female clothes, female dresses in male clothes, if lesbians love each other as same sex partners, why does one play the role of the man? isn't that defeating the object of loving the same sex? This kind of supports the fact that, the world is messed up and very confused psychologically and emotionally and that is why defining love has become all so difficult. I am not against same sex partners, I don't have a say in the matter and neither should anyone else for that matter, that is their sovereign choice who they choose to be with. It is nobody else's business really, but life is dictated now by people interfering in other people's lives and choices. Partners, married or not are seen as object of desire, something to show off to their friends, one group will ask how much he earns, the other will ask is she good in bed. For the males they are then asked do you love her? then comes the awkward moment if the male says yes to his mates, it generally follows along the lines of don't be stupid, are you going soft on us? why don't you sleep around a bit. It is the peer pressure applied and have you noticed how peer pressure is often wrong for us? All designed that way, you see. The female who brings her partner to her circle, but when asked what does he earn or do for a living? they either lie or fudge the answer. Because if they turn around and say he does menial work or worse he is out of work, oh the frowns, the puzzled looks, twitching nose and the awkward shifts and the eyes diverted away reaction, is what that person receives in return. You could cut the atmosphere with a knife, come on you all know in both genders that is what happens, you have seen it or done it, either way it is damaging and not that is not conducive to letting love flow is it? Love is a weakness they say, particularly in male circles, but actually it is a strength and another 180 example. I will tell you what is a weakness, relationships with a controlling factor, a relationship with one partner controlling the other is not based on love, but weak individuals exerting what they think is strength and dominance over the other, but is actually showing their own weakness inside. Real love does not have a controlling factor to it, it is like a frequency, which is a wave motion, you ride the crest and the fall in the same way, which means to be flexible and it is give and take. Anyone in a controlling relationship is not based on love, controlling is not love, they see you as a threat to their perceived dominance and so control you. So, what is love? essentially it is un-definable or not easily describable and that is because this world has been tipped into much darkness, negative thought forms, controlling natures, comparative and competitive mindsets, mixed with the showing off the trophy aspect, based upon looks, physique or the size of the covered-up parts. It has become largely lost in desires, lust and the fear of being alone, the latter of which keeps many in varying degrees of toxic relationships. That is the base level of it, the higher level one could say is where we really lost it, too few have real connection to Source. That is often faked also based on the religious construct of what it is supposed to be, that construct is so far removed from connection to Source, it is beyond comprehension. That disconnect done by various means including our own, is all too similar to the loss of real love here. Both are a frequency, similar in nature and experience, a longing, a remembrance long in the past, it is in essence, a feeling, a memory and an experience all rolled in one blissful moment, collecting that and bottling it, then bringing it back into this 3D existence and accepting it like a memory code, then describes better of what is love. In essence love is a state of being, a higher based frequency. Many people can love, but being in love is different, something lost in this manufactured world of marketing, false idols, masks and a perception of what love, life or human is, not a knowing. You can love many people, you can desire to have sex with many people, but that does not equate to loving someone or being in love, as many of you all have found out. There is a clear distinction between all three, people often don't define what it is they really want, love, sex or to be in the love frequency, three very separate actions all too often blurred into the one, distorted on a massive scale. Some females go out and expose all kinds of flesh, with the desire to get men or women to look at them, but if the average bloke takes more than a glancing look, some react to it badly and exude of volume of cuss words, venom and demeaning terms. As an over view observer, it is sending mixed messages is it not? on the one hand for your vanity, attention and self-confidence you want them to look, but if they do so and you don't approve of the person looking, it is not acceptable. Yet if it was Brad Pitt or Leonardo Decaprio or Chris Hemsworth depending on your choice that is acceptable, well actually it's not. Like most situations in life we send a plethora of mixed messages and rarely define what we want or what we are looking for, it is that lack of real understanding as much as communication, that creates so much division between us all. As some awaken to the higher forms of awakening and the memory of those frequencies start to return, the soul family frequencies, the soul partner frequencies of the past begin to stir up within you. You will find you may be attracted to people you have never met in the physical, under normal circumstances in the physical that is desire, a longing to be connected to something or someone, but this is different. It is not necessarily the person that is desired, but the frequency that person emits from a long time in the past, an enduring memory of the all-encompassing frequency, that is love. But the common misconception in life is to find that love frequency, that it must come from the external connection, but like everything else it comes from within, the mastery of the self and the sword, makes that connection all so much easier. To become love in its true form, one must have inner trust of the self, one must learn in love must not be controlled, it has to flow to create the real magic it brings. It doesn't flow because of the lack of work on the self, with no trust of the self the river of love stops, the dams become the damned. Some say love, it is a river, that drowns the tender reed Some say love, it is a razor that leaves your soul to bleed Some say love, it is a hunger an endless aching need I say love, it is a flower and you, its only seed. Time to plant the seeds is it not? It's the heart, afraid of breaking that never learns to dance, spiral or otherwise. It's the dream, afraid of waking that never takes the chance It's the one who won't be taken, who cannot seem to give And the soul, afraid of dying that never learns to live. You cannot live life not knowing or embracing love, it is the architecture of Source, the creator and love spark. It is the all or it's the emptiness, the void or vacuum of dull space that contains no light, because without love, there is no shine.

What has become clear in these articles over the last few shows is, we are not very good at defining matters, what is and what isn't, without that ability or realization to define things, how can you possibly use your innate abilities and manifest a better way, path or love? Do you know what you are asking for? throwaway statements like I want a better life, is not a definition, it's just a statement, you have not defined what that better life entails? or what is human? or what is love? Learn to define, then throw in your imagination, which brings in manifest and not magic, but your own inherent abilities that changes your "timeline" and subsequently your life. Again it is all in the words, the word fine originally around 1200's meant a termination, end of and so death, de is to move away from, so to define things you are moving away from the end and a new beginning. What happens next? like I mentioned earlier a common saying on this show, ok so you are going to do this, fine or is it define, but what happens next? Is love to be or not to be? Becomes the question and the answer. In the absence of love, fear reigns.

We end with an extra powerful piece of what it means to be and embrace love and be loving in return, plus how to go about life and with people in general. It will teach us from a non-judgmental state of being and will provide a deeper perspective of you, love and life. It will spiral dance with an echo from the distant past, an inner knowing and the deeper meaning and connections to it. For I will greet this day with love in my heart. For this is the greatest secret of success in all ventures. Muscle can split a shield and even destroy life, but only the unseen power of love can open the hearts of people and until I master this art, I will remain no more than a peddler in the marketplace of life. I will make love my greatest weapon and none on whom I call, can defend against its force. My reasoning they may counter; my speech they may distrust; my apparel they may disapprove; my face they may reject; and even my bargains may cause them suspicion; yet my love will melt all hearts, likened to the sun whose rays soften the coldest clay. I will greet this day with love in my heart. How will I do this? Henceforth will I look on all things with love and I will be born again. I will love the sun for it warms my bones; yet I will love the rain for it cleanses my spirit. I will love the light for it shows me the way; yet I will love the darkness for it shows me the stars. I will welcome happiness for it enlarges my heart; yet I will endure sadness for it opens my soul. I will acknowledge rewards for they are my due; yet I will welcome obstacles for they are my challenge. I will greet this day with love in my heart. How will I speak? I will laud mine enemies and they will become friends; I will encourage my friends and they will become brothers and sisters. Always will I dig for reasons to applaud; never will I scratch for excuses to gossip. When I am tempted to criticize I will bite on my tongue; when I am moved to praise I will shout from the rooftops. Is it not so, that birds, the wind, the sea and all nature speaks with the music of praise for their creator? Music of the spheres. Cannot I speak with the same music to the children? Henceforth will I remember this secret and it will change my life. I will greet this day with love in my heart. How will I act? I will love all manners of people for each has qualities to be admired, even though they be hidden. With love I will tear down the wall of suspicion and hate, which they have built round their hearts and in its place, will I build bridges so that my love may enter their souls. I will love the ambitious for they can inspire me; I will love the failures for they can teach me. I will love the kings and queens for they are but human; I will love the meek for they are divine. I will love the rich for they are yet lonely; I will love the poor for they are so many. I will love the young for the faith they hold; I will love the old for the wisdom they share. I will love the beautiful for their eyes of sadness; I will love the ugly for their souls of peace. I will greet this day with love in my heart. But how will I react to the actions of others? With love. For just as love is my weapon to open the hearts of people, love is also my shield to repulse the arrows of hate and the spears of anger. Adversity and discouragement will beat against my new shield and become as the softest of rains. My shield will protect me in the marketplace and sustain me when I am alone. It will uplift me in moments of despair yet it will calm me in time of exultation. It will become stronger and more protective with use until one day I will cast it aside and walk unencumbered among all manners of people and when I do, my name will be raised high on the pyramid of life. I will greet this day with love in my heart. How will I confront each whom I meet? In only one way, in silence and to myself, I will address him or her and say I love you. Though spoken in silence these words will shine in my eyes, unwrinkle my brow, bring a smile to my lips and echo in my voice; and his or her heart will be opened. I will greet this day with love in my heart. And most of all I will love myself. For when I do I will zealously inspect all things which enter my body, my mind, my soul and my heart. Never will I overindulge the requests of my flesh, rather I will cherish my body with cleanliness and moderation. Never will I allow my mind to be attracted to evil and despair, rather I will uplift it with the knowledge and wisdom of the ages. Never will I allow my soul to become complacent and satisfied, rather I will feed it with meditation and prayer. Never will I allow my heart to become small and bitter, rather I will share it and it will grow and warm the earth. I will greet this day with love in my heart. Henceforth will I love all humankind. From this moment all hate is let from my veins for I have no time to hate, only time to love. From this moment I take the first step required to become a man among men. If I have no other qualities I can succeed with love alone. Without it I will fail, though I possess all the knowledge and skills of the world. I will greet this day with love and I will succeed.
